

The restrictions on ownership of stations should not be changed;
large companies already have too much influence over news.